With the convention hall at the Shrine Auditorium crowded to the doors, the eighth annual convention of the B.C. Command, Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., opened here this morning. Official delegates representing all branches of the legion in the province were present, as well as fraternal delegates from several United States and Canadian cities. It was described as the largest convention in the history of the organization.

A warm welcome to the visitors was extended on behalf of the government, the city and both the local permanent forces and the ex-service organizations. After the preliminaries were over, the convention immediately got down to business with presentation of officers' reports and the striking of committees. Early in the morning attempts to secure greater government aid for unemployed ex-servicemen and for widows and orphans of soldiers who are suffering as a result of the depression, was foreshadowed.

SILENT TRIBUTE
Comrade T. A. Barnard, president of the Provincial Command, called the convention to order shortly after 10 o'clock. Following a prayer by Rev. E. D. McLaren, honorary padre, and the offering of silent tribute to the veterans who did not come back, the addresses of welcome were given.

PROVINCIAL WELCOME
Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education and Lands, represented Premier Tomin in extending the welcome on behalf of the British Columbia government and on behalf of himself as a comrade in the legion. He expressed the hope that the results of the convention would show the people of Canada at large that the returned soldiers have as much determination and efficiency in solving the problems of peace as they did in times of conflict. He felt sure the legion men, who had seen war in its most damnable form, would show to the world by their actions that they were seeking the reality of the writing that nations should not raise the sword against each other.

CIVIC GREETING
Mayor David Leeming extended the city's greetings.

Our welcome is a warm, genuine and affectionate welcome," he said, "and I know the local legion know how to entertain you well.

He referred to the important standing of the Canadian Legion in community life. There was a stability about the organization which made it a tower of strength not only to the political life of the country, but also the social life. Its business was the business of the nation, he added, feeling certain that everything done would be for the welfare of the country as a whole.

PROBLEM OF NATIONALISM
T. D. Pattullo, British Columbia Liberal leader, also extended greetings. He spoke of some of the problems facing humanity in the present age, referring to the "Hands Off Pensions" slogan.

The last war constituted a great outbreak of the jungle spirit in humanity, but it also served to demonstrate the need for a more humane society.

Men Charge

A scathing open letter to Hon. W. M. Dennes, charging him with inconsistency and criticizing his attitude, and the rest of the members of the British Columbia government, towards labor was endorsed by the Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening.

The letter contrasted Mr. Dennes's recent announcement of his intention to hold British Columbia employers to a standard of fair wages and reasonable hours for workers with the government's own actions towards labor and a gentleman's agreement has been broken by a 10 per cent cut in the King's Printer's department, it alleged. The letter follows:

"Sir,—With reference to statements made by you, as head of the department whose duty it is to look after the welfare of the workers of the province, appearing in the daily press of Victoria on July 28, in which you lay down a line of policy, may we draw to your attention the fact that, while professing to be in favor of, as well as advocating, a certain line of procedure toward those employers who do not adhere to the principles as enunciated by yourself, and by the great business and labor community, which you are a member, you and the

Should Be Last to Be Touched,
T. A. Barnard Tells British Columbia Convention

Vigorous Organization Now
Needed to Resist Further Efforts to Cut

The Canadian Legion in British Columbia is in excellent condition and has as much, if not more, life and vigor than at any time during its existence, T. A. Barnard, president, said in his annual report today to the convention meeting in Victoria. Claiming reductions were unjustified, the president offered "Hands Off Pensions" as a slogan for the organization.

The membership has kept up wonderfully well and its finances are in good shape, Mr. Barnard said. The president voiced the opinion that B.C. delegates at Ottawa had made the clearest and best proposals regarding pension administration and kindred matters and the basic principles of those suggestions should be adopted before those matters were satisfactorily adjusted.

Mr. Barnard regretted to note that many of the members of the legion were still unemployed.

"This surely is a terrible indictment against the fair name of Canada, a country endowed with a great wealth of natural resources, including the ability to produce abundantly of primary products," he commented.

MORE ROADS
STILL NEEDEDS. L. Squire, Good Roads Advocate, Wants Canadians to Travel By Motor"Use Your Roads," He Says; Highways Eliminate "Rubes" and "Dudes"

Samuel L. Squire, chairman of the executive of the Canadian Good Roads Association, arrived in town this morning from his headquarters in Toronto, bubbling over with enthusiasm on the need for still more roads in Canada and advocating Canadians to see Canada by motor.

Mr. Squire is anxious to have the British Columbia government represented at the annual meeting of the Canadian Good Roads Association, which will be held in Hamilton, Ont., on September 13, 14 and 15, and he would like the province to send its Deputy Minister of Public Works, Patrick Philip, who is recognized throughout the country as one of the most capable road engineers. Mr. Squire says that one day of the convention will be devoted to showing the delegates the mistakes which have been made in Ontario's road building policy.

"We think it will be a good thing to show the delegates the mistakes that Ontario has made so that they may not repeat them," said Mr. Squire. "Ontario has constructed 26,000 miles of highways and it was only natural that mistakes were made. No state across the border has more highways than Ontario."

Mr. Squire, who has been a good roads advocate for twenty years, is a warm supporter of the TransCanada Highway. He wants to see it completed and thinks it will be within five years.

"We have a lot of highways now, but we need more," said Mr. Squire. "The unemployed should be used to build them. The tourist business is now our most important business and we must have more roads and provide for their maintenance if we wish this great business to prosper and grow."

"We have a big investment now in highways," continued Mr. Squire, "and we should profit more from this investment. Our highways should be more widely advertised and Canadians should be encouraged to use the roads."

SPEED FLIGHT

Canadian Press
Regina, Aug. 3.—Preparations for a non-stop flight from Regina to Bridgeport, Conn., to-morrow were being made here today by Commander Frank Hawks, who arrived in this city yesterday evening after flying the 456 miles from Edmonton in two hours and ten minutes.

The commander left this city last week for Calgary after his non-stop flight here from New York for the opening of the world Grain Show. He hopes to be in Bridgeport in time for the celebration Friday honoring Capt. and Mrs. James Mollison, British transatlantic fliers.

He plans to leave the Regina airport between three and four to-morrow morning.

The name of Colonel W. W. Foster, head of the British Columbia Conservative Association, is again linked with the Gulf Islands election.

The colonel, however, to use the phrase the delegates meeting here for the veterans' convention might apply if they were discussing the subject, "wants jam on both sides." He wants all but the Gulf Islands Liberal candidate to drop out of the fight. Under those conditions, but no other, Colonel Foster will agree to run as a Unionist candidate.

And there are three kinds of Conservatives at the tape now waiting for the starting gun for the Islands race. Major J. B. Hardinge is the Bowser nominee, Capt. M. P. Macintosh, independent Conservative, and Major A. Macdonald, independent.

New York, Aug. 3.—Nathan Baskowitz was home today—the first kidnap victim to be brought back on credit. Shortly after police had proclaimed that Baskowitz, sports promoter, "hasn't got thirty-five cents to his name," the abductors released him yesterday evening under a nothing-down-and-easy-payment plan.

Baskowitz was seized Monday evening by five gunmen who snatched him from in front of the home of friends. His brother, known as Artie Bass and associated with Humbert Pugary, another sports promoter, received a letter demanding $35,000.

Artie proceeded to out-talk the kidnapers. He said, according to reports, reaching police, that while he did not have a large sum handy at the moment, his credit was good and he could pay $2,000 on time.

Baskowitz was freed at the Pugary Bowl on Coney Island, sports arena in which Pugary, Broadway fight promoter, and Artie are partners.

Albany, N.Y., Aug. 3.—Threats to kidnap the wife of Edward J. O'Connell, prominent New York State Democratic leader, or one of the three O'Connell brothers, uncles and father of the ransomed John J. O'Connell Jr., were reported today to have been received by the family.

The threats were said to have been responsible for the heavy guard maintained at the mountain camp of Dan O'Connell, where several members of the family are staying.

Police and private guards, armed with rifles, are patrolling the O'Connell camp, twenty miles from this city. "Butch" O'Connell, twenty-four, was returned to the camp early last Sunday after a captivity of more than twenty-three days.

GANGSTERS ANGRY
It was understood the abduction mob, angered by the revelation it had been given marked money and the knowledge the O'Connells were working with the authorities, sought to silence the young man and his uncles with threatening letters.

Reports also were being circulated that an arrest would be made today. Manney Strel, intermediary, has been held in custody for questioning, and his pal, John Oley was ordered picked up.

Invitation to Visit Coast Wired

Taylor of VancouverNew Plane Not Yet Ready, They Say

Canadian Press
Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Prospect of Capt. and Mrs. James A. Mollison making a flight across Canada, possibly non-stop, is envisioned in communications exchanged between the flying couple and Mayor Louis D. Taylor.

Replying to an invitation to visit Vancouver, the Mollisons wired: "Many thanks for your kind wishes. We shall certainly bear in mind the possibility of making such a flight as you suggest. Unfortunately our new machine will not be available for some time."

MRS. PUTNAM'S RECOMMENDATIONS
The mayor, at the suggestion of Alderman W. J. Twiss, chairman of the airport committee, and Airport Manager William Templeton, wired to the Mollisons in New York that a transatlantic flight would be of considerable interest to empire aviation, and added that a machine was available in Toronto. He referred them to Mrs. Amelia Earhart Putnam, whose guests they have been, and who was a recent visitor at the airport here.

In a letter to Airport Manager Templeton a year ago, Mrs. Amy Johnson Mollison expressed the hope she would be able to make a transatlantic flight before she retired from long-distance flying.

It was intimated this afternoon that if the Mollisons should visit Vancouver they would be invited to fly to Victoria and give the citizens here a glimpse of one of the world's two most famous flying couples.

As member for the constituency of Prince Albert in the Dominion Parliament, Mr. King welcomed members of the Grand Lodge from Canada and Newfoundland gathered here in annual convention. Too much endeavor to-day was devoted to material progress and too little to human life. After all, it should be remembered that material possessions were merely for the purpose of satisfying human needs.

"Have we abolished the brute in our industrial life?" he asked. There were still vestiges and beads of grey, and there were in humanity the elements of the beast and the angel. The right attitude toward life was the important thing. Equality, love and kindness, as symbolized in the word "Elk," would go far toward righting the world to-day.

C. H. Dickie, M.P., said the legion was a power for good and would continue to be so. Recent events had shown that the organization's opinions had considerable weight at Ottawa, he declared, and concluded on an optimistic note that the sun was coming out from behind the economic cloud.

Mrs. D. J. McDonald, president of the women's Provincial Command, was introduced from the platform and given a rousing welcome. She spoke briefly on the work done by the women's auxiliary.

Favoritism In Works In Vancouver Denied to-day By Officials

Aldermen Are Told By City Engineer and Superintendent Allegations Regarding Lodges Are Baseless

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Allegations of favoritism in the Vancouver public works department, on account of lodge affiliations or any other reason, were denied to-day in a report submitted to the board of works.

In a lengthy report which was signed by H. L. Gillard, superintendent, presented the figures regarding lodge affiliations of employees of the department as follows:

Odd Fellows, seven; Sons of England, six; Masons, five; Eagles, two; Moose, two; Foresters, one; Great War Veterans' Association, one; Loyal Orange, one; no lodge affiliations, fifteen.

The superintendent stated that with reference to the complaint of discrimination against those "not members of the lodge," he had been a member of that lodge thirty-one years and he had never used the lodge to further his own interest, but had dropped all thought of his affiliation "when on the work."

Of some thirty men promoted during his superintendency, he stated, there were but four of them members of the I.O.O.F.

A long list of complaints regarding alleged disregard of seniority were denied in the report by the superintendent.

DELEGATES INTERFERED

Alderman G. C. Miller declared the council in any attempt to interfere with heads of departments, was occupying dangerous ground. "We never hear of shareholders in a private company interfering with department heads," he said.

"While I have every sympathy with these men, I agree with Alderman Miller," remarked Alderman R. N. Fraser.

The report by the city engineer, Alderman J. J. McRae declared, was thorough and he believed it was satisfactory and showed no evidence of favoritism for lodge affiliations.

Alderman J. H. Shinnick pressed for a further hearing of the complaints. It was decided to furnish the various complainants with copies of the report.

One section wanted a clear-cut decision binding the association to Premier Bennett and his Union Government plan. Another section stuck out for independent candidates, leaving the matter of allegiance open. No agreement could be reached and the battle will be continued at a future meeting.

"The meeting preserved a strictly impartial attitude to the whole question, leaving the issue of candidates and their allegiance open," a conciliatory report quickly says in telling how the members of the association were so divided they could reach no decision on the subject they had assembled to discuss.

Unless T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, secures the clear-cut majority his supporters confidently anticipate, there may be a lot of complications and hard feelings after the election if the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with a claim made regarding the rights of Premier Tomin.

It is argued by his friends that unless one party has a clear-cut majority the government can remain in office until the next Legislature meets and make a decision as to what the next administration shall consist of.

As the Tomin Party has adopted a policy of naming few candidates and putting the label of friend on itself, the members of the other party are not sure whether they approve of the nomenclature or not, they are positive of wide differences of opinion when the Premier and his friends compile a "For" and "Against" list after the polls.

READY FOR STRATOSPHERE FLIGHT

At Chicago the balloon, gondola and scientific instruments are all ready at last for Lieut-Commander T. G. W. Settle's voyage into the stratosphere. As soon as the weatherman gives the word the aeronaut expects to take off on a flight he hopes will break the altitude record set last year by Prof. Auguste Piccard. When the above picture was taken, Lieut-Commander Settle, left, was sitting in the manhole of the gondola as Ray Cooper, right, directing official of the National Aeronautical Association, checked his instruments.

ARREST MAN
AFTER CHASE

New Westminster Police Win Speed Test and Man in Court as Result

New Westminster, Aug. 3.—Following a mile-a-minute chase along Kingsway for more than three miles, Ted Ford, twenty-five, of Rosedale, was arrested by Sgt. Eric Anderson and Constable H. W. Mason. Ford appeared in the City Police Court this morning before Magistrate H. L. Edmonds and was remanded on a charge of stealing an automobile owned by Hugh Gifford of New Westminster.

The automobile, according to the charge, was stolen from McKenzie and Columbia Streets in New Westminster. Shortly afterward the two police officers on a motorcycle and side car picked up the stolen machine on Kingsway. Through dense traffic on Kingsway the race continued as far as Royal Oak Avenue, Burnaby. At one time, according to the officers, the automobile they were chasing was driven through a gasoline station area in order to avoid traffic. At Royal Oak they caught up with the automobile and forced it to stop. Ford was arrested and brought back to New Westminster.

BOOTLEGGERS SAY They Aid Roosevelt

Raise Price of Liquor As Their Part in United States Recovery Campaign; Gamblers Also Help.

New York, Aug. 3.—Liquor men, more popularly known in the United States as "bootleggers," are not going to let the gamblers outdo them in patriotism.

Scarcely had word arrived from Reno, the American gambling haven, that the boys of "seven-come-eleven" fame had joined President Roosevelt's national recovery drive by shortening hours and increasing tariffs than the bootleggers announced their adherence to the code.

The liquor men's first action to signify their endorsement of the "NIRA" was to hoist the price of good rye whiskey from $16 to $20 a case. The price of cheap rye rose to $18.

Some legitimate dealers said the prospect of early repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment was responsible for huge demands for whisky.

Los Angeles, Aug. 3 (Associated Press).—Four young men, Eric Low, Miriam Burke, Bettie Craig and Opal Webber, sued for $600,000 damages to-day because, they said, they were thrust into a motion picture against their will.

CLAIM DAMAGES FROM FILM STUDIO CLUBS AT WORK ON BEACHES

Toronto, Aug. 3.—Persons professing allegiance to the "Beach Clubs," anti-Jewish organizations, whose avowed object is keeping Toronto's east end beaches "clean," denied to-day that they had disbanded.

It was said a meeting of about 10 persons on an east-end beach yesterday decided the clubs would govern their action "in accordance with the by-laws of the city."

OPEN LETTER
HITS MINISTER

government are not now adhering to those principles.

"In your statement, you deliberately give the impression that you and the government are in favor of lower wages, as well as reasonable hours, for workmen, while at the same time conducting a branch of the public service in an entirely different manner. No doubt you quite understand as to what reference is made, but as the public may not, let us state the matter plainly.

GENTLEMEN'S AGREEMENT

Ever since the establishment of the Government Printing Bureau in British Columbia, there has been (until you chose to violate it last June) a gentlemen's agreement with regard to wages which should be paid the printers employed in that branch of the service. This agreement was entered into by the government in power at that time (but they were giants in those days), and had been maintained inviolate until last June. The reason for the agreement was that the government did not deem it proper to contract with a labor organization, while at the same time recognizing the right of workers to band together for their own benefit and protection. It is not a gentlemen's agreement, the Typographical Union (which invariably keeps its word) agreed to supply the bureau with all the competent workmen it required, while the government on its part agreed always to pay the same rate of wages as that contained in the wage contracts between the union and the employers in the commercial printing offices of Victoria. By this arrangement, for many years the Government Printing Bureau has conducted in a manner satisfactory to all concerned and which has been drawn to your attention that that establishment has been a continuous source of revenue to the province since its inception. The bureau is now running well toward $100,000—one of the few branches of the service which made such a showing.

"However, during last spring, the executive council posted a notice in the workroom of the bureau stating that a reduction in wages of 10 per cent would take place on June 10 of this year. On the same day on which this notice was posted, members of the Typographical Union working in the commercial establishments in Victoria were confronted by a similar notice. This, of course, cannot be accounted as a coincidence, and gives every evidence of concerted action to deliberately reduce the wages of the workmen throughout the city of Victoria, with a similar effect in other portions of the province.

NO RELIEF

If you are already aware, the same having been brought to the attention of the government, members of the Typographical Union in British Columbia, and in fact, throughout Canada, have taken care of their members who have been unfortunate enough to be thrown out of employment during the time of depression, with the result that the government has been relieved of all expense in this respect.

"In this connection, it may be stated that printers in the cities of Victoria and Vancouver have contributed to the support of their unemployed members during the last two and one-half years, no less than $88,000, while at the same time paying as pensions to those beyond the working age $448 per month. This burden is being borne by approximately 400 individuals, while the government has not been called upon to contribute anything.

"In the light of these facts, how can you consistently demand that other employers of labor shall treat their employees fairly, when the government of which you are a member is not willing to practice what it preaches, nor prepared to do what it demands of others?"

EAST WINDSOR
CURFEW RINGS

ells Used in Ontario Town to Clear Streets of Children
After 9 o'Clock

Canadian Press
Windsor, Ont., Aug. 3.—The shades night were falling fast when rough the streets of East Windsor saw—curfew rings. And yester-evening the curfew did, as per bedule, ring. There was no lovelorn aiden hanging on the clapper of the bell on East Windsor's City Hall ing to save her lover. And so the rue rang.

"Hey, kids, beat it. There's the the," was the reaction of some sungsters. "Ah, gee, they're just ing the curfew, did, as per mean nothing to us," came from the youngsters.

But just then the officer on the beat appeared and explained the first boys are correct, and that the curfew did g.

Police signal-bells in the city were ng at 9 o'clock by order of Mayor Ted ntine, who revived an almost-fortizen by-law to the effect children under sixteen must not be abroad on streets unless accompanied by ers after 9 o'clock. The confession two children, aged ten and twelve, ey had perpetrated seven burglaries is the basis for the mayor's action.

ANCIENT ALEUT
WEAPONS FOUND

Important Discovery Made By Rev. Father Hubbard's
Northern Expedition

Associated Press
Fairbanks, Alaska, Aug. 3.—New findings—ancient war masks, paddles, war canoes and parts of wooden nor—were described yesterday by v. Father Bernard Hubbard, the leader of the expedition, as "extremely valuable" in studying the early Aleut es.

The discoveries were made by Father Hubbard and his expedition in an ocean on an uninhabited volcanic island
the Aleutian Islands.

They were hidden, he said, beneath en rocks and debris in the caves, d and had to be dug out. Previously a season his party had explored sevl Stone Age village sites.

Undoubtedly, Father Hubbard deed, the weapons were used by the ce Aleuts in their expeditions d neighboring tribes long before advent of the white man.

Father Hubbard and Edgar Levin, one the expedition, will leave here about gust 14 for California.

WHEAT IS CUT IN SASKATCHEWAN

Canadian Press
Regina, Aug. 3.—In an effort to combat the grasshoppers, farmers are busy cutting their wheat fields, and although operations are not in full swing, many binders are at work along the Regina-Moose Jaw highway. While the grain is being cut on the green side, the kernels appear to be well filled.

Harvesting of wheat and oats has forty miles southeast of Weyburn. Cutting is general in the Balcarres and Abernethy districts. According to visitors from that part of the province to erally excellent.

SPEAKS IN WINNIPEG

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Protests of single unemployed men living with their parents against going to relief camps were unavailing before the civic relief committee here yesterday.

The committee decided to stand by the decision to accept the offer of the convention of clubs of western federal and provincial authorities to care for these cases in relief camps.

A delegation of three, representing a large proportion of the estimated 1,000 of such cases, addressed the council committee. One of their contentions was that if they should leave town their chances for employment would be worse than ever. Jobs, they said, would go to those who were on hand.

One of the delegates remarked: "A hungry man is an angry man," to which Mayor L. D. Taylor replied:
"We shall not tolerate any demonstration. We know what hungry men are and we will do our best to see that the food at these camps is better than I get myself."

"We're trying to hold these men back," the delegate stated.

FOREST FIRES
The mayor criticized the provincial government's policy in not taking men from unemployment camps to fight
forest fires.

Thousands of dollars' worth of timber is being destroyed by fire and if this weather continues the loss will be heavier," he stated. "On my trip north I passed through sections where fires could be seen a comparatively short distance from camps where the men were idle. The government claims it has no money to protect the forests.
I believe if the city council was in the same position the money could be found."

Before the delegation left, the commissioner asked what the men were to do for food while the aldermen deliberated. They were told there was no alternative but to go to camp.

YOUNG CONSTABLES
Not to Marry

Canadian Press
London, Aug. 3.—Baron Trenchard, commissioner of the metropolitan police, today issued an order forbidding constables from marrying during the first four years of their service.

The reason for the order was said to be that the majority of the constables unmarried so they may live in section houses and be available to quick calls in emergency.

Lord Trenchard's edict placed police recruits in the same category as recruits for the Anglican priesthood, who also are required to forewear matrimony for several years.

Policewoman Takes Honors In Shooting

Miss Margaret Walker Is Congratulated on Splendid Revolver Prowess

Detectives Rogers, Bamford and Stark Split Other Local Honors

Turning in a remarkable card of forty-eight out of sixty, Miss Margaret Walker, policewoman at city headquarters, yesterday afternoon captured the first award in the event for Vancouver Island police at the Esquimalt revolver shoot.

Miss Walker shot consistently near and on the bull to set up the total winning the individual shoot for city police officers with a 45.

It is the first time one of the local policewomen has come out on top in open competition at the shoot, and Miss Walker was heartily congratulated by those attending. She has taken part previously in the police meetings, winning the women's event on some occasions, but her shooting yesterday was outstanding. Chief Healey was one of the first to congratulate her.

Detective Bamford, who placed second after the tie, came right back to win the individual shoot for city police officers with a 45.

The City Council Trophy for the city officer scoring the highest aggregate in four events, went to Detective Jack Rogers who shot consistently all day.

He had a total of 179 out of a possible 240. Detective Bamford was only one point behind and Detective William Stark had 167.

THE EIGHTH WONDER

A few days ago this newspaper commented editorially on a report in a mainland contemporary from its Victoria correspondent which implied that the government did not intend to have candidates throughout the province in the forthcoming election because it would regard those nominated under other auspices as possible supporters if they were elected, and that therefore it would cling to office without regard to the decision of the electorate for an indefinite period in the hope that among the elected members there would be enough who would give "a majority in the Legislature." We pointed out that such an attitude would be without precedent in the political records of British countries, and that it would be astonishing if the report upon which we based our comment was correct.

Evidently the report was accurate, and the government actually entertains the fantastic conception of its duties and responsibilities implied by it, for the morning paper, through which the government announces its policies, to-day makes the following observation in its comment on the dissolution of the Legislature:

Whatever the verdict of the province it is competent for the government to remain in office until the new Legislature has met and given a definite and final decision on the merits of the administration. The Legislature is the legitimate organ of the people.

Hence, according to that theory, if any party should emerge from an election in, say October, with a clear majority of the members the government would be entitled to remain in office until next March, because the House, not the electorate, is "the organ of the people." If the government did not elect a solitary supporter, if even the Premier and Attorney-General, the only candidates nominated so far in support of the administration, were defeated, if every other candidate who ran in direct opposition to it, including those who throughout the campaign specifically declared their hostility to it, were elected, the government still would remain in power until after the new Legislature was in session next year.

Apparently the election is to be merely a little pleasanter in which the government is only academically interested, a sort of fall hippodrome, with the government as an interested spectator in its private box. What the electors decide will mean nothing; the government will not be interested until the next Legislature has met when it will hope that a sufficient number of members who have been elected in opposition to it will betray the trust reposed in them by their constituents to keep it in office. What a text for a sermon on elementary ethics, square-dealing with the public and honesty in politics!

It should be hardly necessary to observe that if this comment of the morning paper actually expresses the attitude of the government the ministry should be asked to get out immediately by the Lieutenant-Governor, for it is nothing but an insult to the electorate on top of a crude violation of the cardinal principle which is the essence of all representative institutions—that the will of the electors as expressed at the polls shall be supreme. After this we shall not be surprised to be told that the government proposes to remain in office even if it should not have a solitary member of the Legislature to support it. Why even a Legislature? Why have an election at all? What is the constitution, anyhow, where the emoluments of office are concerned and as long as there is anything left in the Treasury?

Unfortunately for this unique aspiration of the government, there are certain insuperable obstacles in the way of its realization. One of them happens to be the Lieutenant-Governor, who has the power of dismissal at any time, and whose course must be determined by the will of the electors as expressed at the polls. If that decision should make it clear that the government and its policy have been rejected by the electors—and the returns of the polls will show that—it will be his duty to call upon the leader of the party with the most elected representatives to form a government. He can not wait six months of log-rolling and manipulation without transferring the issue from the defeated government to himself, since in that case he would be a party to a proceeding which would be unexampled since pre-Confederation times. Up to this time there are supposed to be seven wonders in the world. There is now another one—a government in a British country which, with only two supporters in an election, believes it can hang on to office almost indefinitely regardless of the will of the electors—and a government whose leader a year ago publicly announced its inability to carry on notwithstanding its control of two-thirds of the Legislature, "the legitimate organ of the people."

A NIRA FOR CANADA?

If the recovery plan which President Roosevelt has inaugurated in the United States works out well, some of it will be emulated in Canada, according to a dispatch from Ottawa yesterday. We are told it does not follow that the Dominion government would go to the same extent or pursue the same method. The conditions, of course, are considerably different.

The National Industrial Recovery Act—called NIRA for short—is an attempt to insure for employees a greater share of the earnings of industry. As the Business Week points out, it is not the deep reason for the recent break in the stock market, it might be suggested that perhaps Wall Street caught the first glimpse of the truth, and

"suddenly woke up to the fact that not every dollar of added corporate revenue is going to be allowed to pass straight to net profits; a good-sized piece of it is going to the wage earner from now on."

It is generally recognized that the United States recovery drive is a temporary expedient to meet an emergency which will exist until a separate code for each industry is adopted. It is expected to succeed because, to quote The Business Week again, the recovery administration did not plunge ahead without taking preliminary soundings, which proved to be encouraging. Manufacturers are reported to have been responsible for the plan, and that they were as much alert as the government to the necessity of increasing purchasing power quickly. Payrolls were not increasing fast enough to absorb the swift-swelling output of goods. They saw disaster if that condition were to continue much longer.

Judged by newspaper reports, apart from propaganda, there is every indication that the consuming public of the United States is going to take the NIRA seriously. This means that concerns which are not co-operating will be uncomfortable until they fall into line. Industry has until September 1 to do so. After that date all industries which have lagged behind will be summoned willy-nilly to Washington, there to make a code or to have one imposed upon them.

The programme of President Roosevelt is described as the philosophy which flatly contradicts the classic economists who would "let nature take its course," since it holds that "common purpose and unified action can profoundly influence economic forces." In view of the vast changes which have taken place in recent years it is useless for a nation to try to exist unless there is a reasonable measure of prosperity for everybody—not great prosperity for the few and poverty for the rest.

That was a brief passage in President Roosevelt's recent address on his NIRA programme. Carried out, it means that the days of unlimited profits are past. It means increased pressure of taxation on big individual incomes and a redistribution of the republic's wealth. If the "new deal," therefore, is good for the United States, it will be tried out elsewhere.

GOT WHAT THEY VOTED FOR

When Mr. Mackenzie King told an audience the other day that the people get just the kind of government they vote for he emphasized the obvious.

In the election campaign in 1930 the King government presented the people of the country with a complete account of its stewardship. That accounting included a record of the largest volume of external trade in the history of the country, lower taxation under many heads, a national debt reduced by nearly $300,000,000, and a surplus of about $50,000,000 in the treasury.

By the summer of 1930, of course, the economic crash of the previous fall had begun to have its effect on the business life of Canada, and approximately 120,000 workers in the Dominion were idle.

It was this condition of unemployment, a trivial national problem in comparison with the present one, which Mr. Bennett asked to be permitted to end. He promised to do the trick by increasing tariffs. The people took him at his word. For the time being they were not interested in the record of the government asking for endorsement. Mr. Bennett won the day and applied his remedy with as little delay as possible.

Those who put the present government in have only themselves to blame. They can not blame Mr. Mackenzie King because there are now three times as many unemployed as there were three years ago, or because our trade is about a third of what it was then.

It is not Mr. King's fault that taxation has been increased, that the national debt has been increased, or that the country is running behind financially. We wage, however, the people of Canada will act more wisely when Mr. Bennett appeals to them the next time.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

FOR USERS OF CANOES
 The St. Thomas Times-Journal

A few weeks ago the Times-Journal, commenting on canoe fatalities, stated that the safe way to operate a canoe was by sitting on the bottom of the craft and not on the seat, especially for heavyweights.

Striking confirmation of this view is given in The Mail and Empire by H. B. Dawson, Port Arthur, a canoe expert. In urging kneeling or sitting in the floor of the canoe, Mr. Dawson says:

"Personally, I have sailed a canoe over Thunder Bay and have paddled it when launches found difficulty in navigating and have never felt that I was in danger, nor have I at any time shipped any great quantity of water. The canoe is safe, just as an automobile is safe, if it is handled with care."

STORM IN THE PYRENEES
 The New Statesman

A first-class row is going on in the tiny peasant Republic of Andorra in the Pyrenees. The Council-General, or Parliament, has been at odds with the austerian Powers of France and Spain—or, to be more exact, with the so-called Co-Princes, the President of the French Republic and the Bishop of Urgel.

The Council wants to develop the country by granting concessions—including a newspaper concession to an Australian syndicate, another for a gaming casino, and yet another for the sale of postage stamps to collectors. Meanwhile, both France and Spain have set up their own postal systems, much to the chagrin of the Council, which is showing a thoroughly rebellious spirit. It has even gone to the length, we are told, of refusing the bishop his regular Christmas tribute of hams, cheeses and chickens.

Now the Courts, or tribunal of three judges (foreigners by the Co-Princes) has dismissed the Council from office; the council refuses to go, and has called an assembly of the people to decide what shall be done. What the decision will be we do not know; but if it is for "secession," the odds would seem to be on the President and the bishop. It will be a pity if this little community loses its independence. It would also be a pity to have the mountains and valleys of Andorra turned into a tenth-rate Monte Carlo.

Nineteen years after, we are seen to have made splendid progress—but in an unexpected direction—still, this is the season of rejoicing and repletion among the just—and the unjust share in it unjustly—and next door they are getting ready for the Fifth.

NINETEEN

IT SEEMS incredible that nineteen years have passed since Europe went to war. Nineteen years ago to-day things were happening over there, armies marching, first blood flowing, and the British Government was giving its ultimatum to Germany. Thus started the war to end war. Nineteen years later, after the complete defeat of militarism and autocracy and all the forces of evil, conditions must be faintly disappointing to men and women whose lives were smashed up in the contest.

Just nineteen years after the outbreak of the war to end war, a conference of the nations to achieve economic peace, without which no permanent peace is possible, breaks up in a colossal fiasco.

Nineteen years after the war to crush militarism the world is discovered to be spending more for armaments than ever, and a disarmament conference is dragging on helplessly, without hope. Japan introduces the largest military naval budget in history, paying for it conveniently out of a deficit. The French minister of marine declares France will have the equal of any navy in the world. The United States lays down more battleships, China starts building an aerial fleet to get ready for Japan.

Nineteen years after the war to crush autocracy forever there is no democracy left in Europe except in France and Britain. Hitler is ruling with an army at his back in the Kaiser's old capital, supported by the same old gang which started the war. And the son of the former Crown Prince, tells an American interviewer that he will shortly be German Emperor.

Nineteen years after the beginning of the war to make a world fit for heroes to live in, millions of heroes are out of jobs along with more millions of other people. Depression attributed by all economists to that same war. International trade has been strangled to death. War debts aren't going to be paid. And only heroes are fitted to live under conditions prevailing in most parts of the world.

That's the trouble with second-rate wars, the supreme arbitrament of arms they aren't the supreme arbitrament and they don't settle anything finally. But fortunately, with the experience and the chemical researches of science, the nations are now almost prepared to supply a really first-rate war which will settle everything finally and completely. Altogether we have done well in nineteen years.

HARVEST

THIS is the season when the just are rewarded, when nature unbends and makes up to the worthy man for all the follies and wrongs of his race. This is the flood season of the vegetable garden and filled with a glory which you golfers, tennis players, motorists and beach campers can never know. But we who have labored in the soil since those cold wet days of March, who have watched our first seedlings perish in the frosts of May, and have sown and weeded until dark on the year's longest day, who have sweated in the sun of midsummer and disfigured our hands with blisters, who have labored are now being repaid.

You cannot but what we get for the more picking. You can nowhere find for sale such green peas, sweet peas, remembered classes, such beets, so tender that they bleed from an unkind word; such green and yellow beans that must be cooked within the hour to provide the last full measure of flavor that you can never purchase in the great city beyond the hill; such onions with glistening white tumblers, bursting with goodness, and lettuce with harder heads than a statesman facing election; such tomatoes reddening on the vines with the smile of a little child; and such early yellow apples, not ripe yet but ready to make any sauce whose flavor lies too deep for tears.

DIVINE

BUT THERE is no use telling you about those things. They are unearthly and divine sensations which can come only to a man who has labored in the vineyard and kept the faith, while that prodigal city on the other side of the hill gorged and dined and drank cocktails and talked politics in elegant luxury and effect splendor. You wouldn't understand the spiritual satisfactions of this season of harvest, any more than you can possibly experience those bodily comforts that reward the just.

But there is something you can understand, a habit of your kind which you may practise yourself. I mean, at this time of year the people of the great city over the hill acquire a strange and mystic interest in the country. They come out here in large numbers just to see the scenery. They stand about and admire the garden, and the swelling fruits of our honest toil. And then we have our revenge, and visit on them the penalties of their parasitical life yonder.

We heap coals of fire on their heads by filling their hands with our vegetables, those precious jewels, far more valuable than diamonds to men who must eat to live. We load them down with succulence and nourishment and flavor. It is a sermon on industry and on nature made—also, it is moving. These words, and a couple of more, of the wicked city more stinging than a lash.

Yet, alas, so abandoned is the city to its idleness and vices that these prodigals take our vegetables, the lush fruits of labor, they take them home and grieve contentedly without shame and without any inward motions of the spirit. Next year they will rise, when we work and then they will come again to admire our garden, and like the good-natured ant in the old story, will feed these grasshoppers, who play all summer and store up nothing against

JUST A LINE to record the approach of a tremendous event. "You know what," said the little girl from next door a few minutes back. "This Friday, that's the day after Wednesday or Saturday, I'm going to be five. That's something pretty big, isn't it? Five's a lot more than four isn't it? When you're five you're not a little girl any more, but a great big girl, that's what. And I'm going to have a birthday party on Friday, when I'm five, with a cake and five candles on it and lots of little boys and girls to bring presents."

"You've got to bring a present, remember, if you come to my birthday party, and the bigger you get, the bigger the presents you get. I'm pretty big for five, I guess. And besides, when I get to be five I can do whatever I like. I'll be able to cross the main road by myself, if I want to, and stay up till half-past seven at night, and go into the store myself, and buy life at figures, or I have the money. But my mummy says, when you're old like I am you've got to have 'big' responsibilities. You've got to look after your baby brother and see that he doesn't do naughty things and that's old after all, but I'm going to try it for a while anyway."

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate winds chiefly southerly, fine and warm to-day and Tuesday.

Spokane, August 3.—Almost the entire city of Spokane, B.C., has been destroyed by a bush fire, which got beyond control on Saturday afternoon. Different estimates place the loss of life at figures varying between 70 and 150. END OF THE BEACH

The end of the beach, and the moon so slim,
 It seemed it was only a twilight whim;
 A thing wrought of magic, all elfin bright,
 And clear as the gleam of the channel light.

The end of the day, and we stood so still,
 While the moon and the sea-wind would
 And a swell on our happy hair was laid
 That made us certain and unafraid.

The end of the beach, and with hand in hand
 We counted the crescents that shone in the sand;
 The end of our waiting, at last we knew
 That only through love can all dreams come true!

SPEED COAL PEACE MOVES

U.S. Industrial Recovery Officials to Arrange Code For Pennsylvania Fields

By James Cope, Associated Press Staff Writer

Washington, Aug. 3.—On the persuasive powers of Hugh S. Johnson, administrator of President Roosevelt's industrial recovery program, depended to-day a temporary solution of serious labor troubles in the Pennsylvania coal fields and possibly an answer to reported signs of industrial discord elsewhere.

Johnson's energies were pitted to the task of winning sufficient concessions both from the mine owners and labor to end the strike until a binding code of fair practice for the entire coal industry is devised.

Because of the strike, hearing on the eighteen separate bituminous coal codes that have been put forward has been moved up from August 14 to August 9. Issues of company union versus company union will then be thrashed out to something like a determination of a basis for further industrial relations.

THOUSANDS INVOLVED

Brownsville, Pa., Aug. 3.—Leaders of some 3,000 miners, packed to-day for speedy settlement of the strike that for a week has kept them from the pits in Pennsylvania's bituminous coal fields.

Two hundred strikers' representatives meeting with national guard and state labor officials approved a request to the federal government to hurry passage of the coal code. They expressed hope its adoption would provide a basis for settling the dispute over company recognition of miners' unions.

SINGLE MEN

To the Editor:—Appropos to the controversy of the so-called "single men" racket in your issue of July 20, 1933, in the writer's humble opinion having gained same by practical experience, the "single men" who enter into holy matrimony must assuredly can justify their life of action. Single men are now looked down upon and treated with contempt by our rulers. In other words to be more to the point, according to the said gentlemanly actions and words, getting married in their opinion denotes intelligence.

A USEFUL SUGGESTION

To the Editor:—I think that publicity should be given to the fact that, by an agreement reached between the Canadian and U.S. government, tourists in Canada may take back with them to the United States small quantities of Canadian grown nursery stock and plants without first obtaining a permit from Washington.

Certain certificates have, however, to be obtained, but any nurseryman will be glad to arrange for these.

This new regulation, I think, will be given wide publicity as it will tend to increase business for the island nurseryman.

POLICE DOGS

To the Editor:—During the past few days I have read remarks concerning police dogs in the letter column of your daily. I would like to say that I quite agree with Mr. E. W. Perry in what he says about these dogs, with which anybody who knows them must agree. If "Cave Canem" were as tough as the name sounds, he should not be worried by such friendly animals as police dogs. I have known many of these dogs, and never have I seen one that would go after another dog except to play with it. They are the most playful and happiest dogs I have ever seen, and they love to play with other dogs, many of which, however, would sooner fight than play. Therefore, I say that there are many kinds of dogs in this city which should be done away with before they become a young Canadian I think they are much to be preferred in this country to those little things called dogs which so many people import from China.

A PROTEST

To the Editor:—We, the citizens of the Queen Charlotte Islands understand that W. A. Newcombe has been dismissed from his position at the Provincial Museum. This we think is a gross injustice to Mr. Newcombe, as there is no better man in Canada qualified for this position than Mr. Newcombe.

We are told that the government's excuse is economy. What a rotten joke. When we see all the money that is being squandered by the Bennett and his government, this we think is a gross injustice to Mr. Newcombe, like his father, the late Dr. Newcombe, is known to all in the north.

The late Dr. Newcombe was one of the real pioneers of the north. One of our esteemed empire builders; a man that sailed up and down the coast of British Columbia in a twenty-four foot sail-boat, endeavoring to bring our people to the front. It is to be British Columbia's reward to the Newcombe family for their services to our province—the dismissal of Dr. Newcombe.

THE STORY OF RUTH

To the Editor:—In the days when the judges ruled Israel a man named Abimelech, his wife Naomi, and their two sons left Bethlehem-Judah to dwell in the country of Moab.

The sons took unto themselves wives named Orpah and Ruth.

Naomi's husband and two sons died and Naomi was about to return to her own country.

Orpah, kissed her mother-in-law good-bye but Ruth clung to her mother-in-law and insisted on going with her.

She said: "Treat me not to leave thee or to return from following thee, for whither thou goest I will go, and where thou lodgest I will lodge; thy people shall be my people and thy God my God."

"When thou diest I will die, and there will I be buried. The Lord do so to me if I ought but death part thee and me." So they returned together.

Ruth gleaned corn in a field belonging to Boaz, a mighty man of wealth. She gleaned until evening and then thrashed out an ephah of barley.

Boaz was a near kin of Naomi. Ruth went out each day with the maidens until the end of barley and wheat harvest, gleaning the grain and dwelling with her mother-in-law.

Boaz took ten men of the elders of the city and said unto them in the presence of the nearest kinsman that he thought to advertise the property of Naomi's husband and that of her sons.

The kinsman said he could not redeem the property as it would mar his own inheritance so he asked Boaz to buy it, which also meant the purchase of Ruth, the Moabitess as wife.

The Lord blessed her with a son and Rachel, the wife of Jacob.

They called him Obed, who became the father of Jesse, the father of David in line with Christ.

Ruth was compared to Leah and Rachel, the wives of Jacob.

In Genesis xxv 11 God said unto Jacob: "A nation and a company of nations shall be of thee."

Reports alleging inefficiency of the constitution governing the Central Ratepayers' Association were presented to the meeting. This, it was stated, is in conflict with the individual ward constitutions.

The next meeting will be held September 6 in Mount Tolmie School.

Morkill, Pemberton Road, were made at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Biggerstaff Wilson on Tuesday afternoon. This will be the first time that these particularly beautiful gardens have been opened to the public and it is hoped that a large number of people will avail themselves of this opportunity to visit them.

The affair is under the auspices of the Vancouver Island Horticultural Association and is most fortunate in having as its convener Mrs. Biggerstaff Wilson who, with the following ladies, will undoubtedly make the afternoon an outstanding success: Mrs. H. C. V. MacDowell, vice convener, assisted by Mrs. R. V. D. Guthrie, Mrs. F. Philip and Mrs. E. W. Darius; Victorian bouquets, Miss Ann Pitts, bridge, Mrs. J. Rithet; chairman of committees, Mrs. E. W. Hammond.

Mrs. Atfield's dancing pupils will stage a number of dances during the afternoon, while the Boys' Band will also be in attendance. Other attractions will be clock golf, badminton, fortune-telling, etc. The hours will be from 3 to 6 p.m.

Weddings
BIGNORE-MUNDAY

The marriage of Kathleen, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Munday of Victoria, to Mr. James Bignore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Bignore of Alberni, was solemnized Wednesday afternoon at the Victoria Gospel Hall, Mr. B. Sutherland officiating.

KILNER-WILLIS
An interesting marriage took place Tuesday evening at Nanaimo when the Rev. Canon Hitchcock united in marriage at St. Paul's Church, Irene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Willis, Gillespie Street, and Donald, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kilner, Albert Street. The bride was given in marriage by her father and was attended by Miss Edith Haynes as bridesmaid.

The groom was supported by Mr. Peter Seaton. Mrs. R. T. Wilson played the nuptial music as the bride party entered and left the church, and during the signing of the register Mr. W. Eastwood sang "Because." Following the ceremony a reception to one hundred guests was held in the St. John Ambulance Hall.

The newly married couple were tendered toasts by Canon Hitchcock and Mr. Nicholas Wright. The bride and groom were then escorted to their honeymoon for a motor trip to San Francisco.

MENJOU-CARVER
DIVORCE SETTLED

Associated Press.
Los Angeles, Aug. 3.—A complete settlement for $5,000 of all claims made by his wife, Kathryn Carver, in her recent petition for divorce, was approved to-day by Adolph Menjou, screen sophisticate, who said he would not contest her suit when it comes to trial within ten days.

The settlement was made at a conference of attorneys representing Miss Carver, screen star and model, and Menjou. The $5,000 is in addition to $150,000 Menjou gave Miss Carver in cash and securities last November when they arranged a property settlement. In return for the settlement, Menjou agreed to file an amended divorce complaint, eliminating all mention of another woman and merely charging cruelty. She charged in her complaint that Menjou was too attentive to a New York stage actress.

AIMEE HUTTON AND DAUGHTER COME TO "GRIPS"

There apparently was a heated difference of opinion when Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton (right) and her daughter, Mrs. Roberta Smythe (left), debated what disposition to make of their luggage as they arrived in Baltimore, Md., from Paris. Aimee is seen wearing a black satin dress sent to her by the congregation of her Angelus Temple in Los Angeles.

Successful Garden Fetes
Aid Deserving Causes

Garden parties are the most popular form of money-raising during the summer months, and yesterday afternoon's showers did not materially affect the success of the four functions arranged by local organizations in aid of their various philanthropic undertakings, many interested friends patronizing the affairs.

CATHEDRAL GUILD FETE
The lovely gardens at "Tanglin," Foul Bay Road, the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. Bagley, drew a large number of guests on the occasion of the garden party under the auspices of the Women's Parish Guild of Christ Church Cathedral, the sum of $130 being realized.

Little pupils of Miss Florence Clough gave a series of charming dances on the lawn, the dancers including David Webb, Theina Stratford, Kathleen Gregson and Lucie Roskelly. Mrs. George Miles was general convener, and Mrs. A. J. Gallie, Mrs. A. J. Dalain and Mrs. Drury were at the gates, and also sold the tea tickets. Tea was served in the house, under the convener's of Mrs. Grant.

Mrs. A. E. Greenwood and Mrs. H. A. Patterson had charge of the fancywork stall; Mrs. J. Speck and Mrs. Robson had many tempting wares at their home cooking stall, and Miss Faith Robson's collection of miscellaneous articles was sought after by eager purchasers. Mrs. W. Finmore had charge of the candy stall, which looked very attractive with its pretty boxes of sweets; Miss Bartlett and Mrs. Robson sold lovely babies' wools at their stall.

Miss Ivy Burwood, as "Miss Lavender," looked charming in her old fashioned costume, and her fragrant wares were in great demand.

FOR SAANICH WELFARE
Hon. J. Hinchliffe performed the opening ceremony at the garden party which the Saanich Welfare Association held yesterday afternoon at the home of its president, Mrs. T. Todd, Ash Street, Gordon Head. The hostess was assisted in welcoming the guests by Mrs. E. F. Coburn, the general convener, and Mrs. W. H. Carr.

Mrs. David Ramsay and Mrs. W. Foster were in charge of the tea arrangements and were assisted by Miss W. O. Wallace and Miss K. Old. Marjory Watson, who was in charge of the summer-house at daintily appointed tables.

Among the many diversions was an exhibition of dancing by Miss Gwendolyn Devar, and Mr. Reginald de la Harpe delighted the guests with selections on the harmonica. Palmyra by Madame Roman was a very popular feature, and the country which was quite a novelty, was convener by Mrs. W. H. Steele.

Candy was sold by Mrs. P. Appleby and Miss Ruth Appleby, while the home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. W. O. Wallace and Miss K. Old. The flowers were sold by Mrs. G. Grieves, and ice cream by Mrs. Nimmo and Mrs. Steer, superlatives being managed by Mrs. P. Rollins and Mrs. G. Watson. Mrs. William Dealy, the treasurer, was in receipt of custom.

FOR ST. BARNABAS SCOUT FUND
Another popular afternoon function yesterday was the "country fair," held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. O. Gurney, 3020 Quadra Street, under the auspices of the ladies' committee of the Third Victoria (St. Barnabas) Troop and Cub committee of the Boy Scouts' organization to raise funds to augment the general expenses of the summer camp for the boys.

Tea was served in the house, which was beautiful with summer blooms. Mrs. A. Mainprize, the general convener, supervised the tea, which was with Mrs. R. A. Heater. Mrs. C. Dixon assisted. Six Girl Guides made very efficient waitresses.

The coconut shy, managed by Mrs. J. H. Hinchliffe, was a popular feature. Also was the "hot dog" stand in charge of Ralph Moss. Candy was sold by Joyce Dixon and Etta Cowan, and the home cooking table was supervised by Mrs. Camp and Mrs. Mainprize. The novelties were in charge of Mrs. H. Holder, and ice cream and soft drinks were sold by Miss Patricia Phipps. Port wine was sold by Mrs. Youvan in great demand, while the pupils of Miss Florence Clough, including girls Jacques, Marguerite, Renée, Rhoda, Leeming and Ethel Gillis, added to the enjoyment of the afternoon's programme.

WOMAN HEADS
TRAIL RIDERS

Mrs. Pearl Brewster Moore
First Woman President of Order of Rockies

Canadian Press.
Lake Louise, Alta., Aug. 3.—A woman to-day ruled the riders of trails in the Canadian Rockies for the first time in the history of the order.

At the annual pow-wow following the decennial ride Tuesday evening Mrs. Pearl Brewster Moore of Banff was elected president of the Order of Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, first woman to hold the honor since the order's formation a decade ago. Mrs. Moore is a member of pioneer family of the west and a sister of Jim Brewster, noted mountaineer, and has long been noted as the finest horsewoman in the Canadian Rockies.

George Vaux, Bryn Mawr, Pa., was elected a vice-president, as well as H. H. Palenske, Chicago; Miss Elizabeth Booz, Washington, Pa., and Dan McGowan, Banff, naturalist.

Asked to-day whether her presidency would mean any notable changes in policy, Mrs. Moore said: "I cannot see any reason for change mostly because a woman is president. Being president does not mean that my opinions have changed for I am primarily a trail rider and I approve our trail policies now and as heartily as when we first adopted them."

"I shall continue our organization's efforts to attract outdoor lovers to make our annual rides because only by riding over new or unfrequented trails can you learn the intimate beauties and the snow-capped panoramas in the Canadian national parks. I have ridden these trails since childhood and they seem always new, they will always be. If the testimony of our members has any meaning at all, the trails and the mountains are here for us to enjoy, and they cannot yield greater enjoyment under a woman's presidency than under a man's. The job is a great honor, and I shall do my best to keep up to the high level of my predecessors."

To Hold Quilting Bee—The Victoria Women's Institute will hold a quilting bee to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock at the home of Mrs. W. Feden, 27 Olympia Avenue. All members are invited to attend.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Adventure of the Northland

THE RESCUE
"I expected that if he saw Eskimos they would live in snow houses, but I don't see any snow houses here. They are all made of stone and earth."

Candy was sold by Mrs. P. Appleby and Miss Ruth Appleby, while the home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. W. O. Wallace and Miss K. Old. The flowers were sold by Mrs. G. Grieves, and ice cream by Mrs. Nimmo and Mrs. Steer, superlatives being managed by Mrs. P. Rollins and Mrs. G. Watson. Mrs. William Dealy, the treasurer, was in receipt of custom.

It was Roberta speaking, and she was addressing Uncle Tim.
"It is true," he said, "that many Eskimos live in snow houses, but that is not the case in the Northland."

This conversation took place on the second day after Uncle Tim, Roberta and Allen reached the Eskimo village. They had been well treated by the natives but they were wondering about the future. It was all very well to spend a few days in the Eskimo village, but they did not like the idea of living there month after month, possibly year after year.

Mrs. John Gilbert
Has a Daughter

Hollywood, Calif., Aug. 3 (Associated Press).—While her husband, John Gilbert, movie actor, nervously paced the hallways, Virginia Bruce Gilbert gave birth to a seven pound five ounce daughter at a hospital yesterday evening.

Dr. Norman Williams estimated Gilbert traveled about fourteen miles per hour in the corridors before the arrival of the baby, and said the actor was the most difficult male parent he ever attended.

"Both father and baby are doing nicely," however, the physician said.

Victoria Bank Manager and Family Home From 7,700-Mile Trip By Car

Jack C. Newmarch, manager of the Douglas Street branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mrs. Newmarch and their fourteen-year-old son, Charles, are back at their home, 880 Montrose Avenue, today, after a 7,700-mile trip in their motor car across the continent and back.

They went south from Port Angeles, B.C., where they headed over the Lincoln Highway. At Detroit they crossed by the tunnel into Ontario and continued east through Ontario and Montreal to Quebec City, the way they crossed into the United States over the new Ambassador Bridge over the Detroit River. They took in nearly everything at the tour of Progress Fair at Chicago. It was hard work to get around to all as it meant eight miles of riding, but it was all very wonderful and most enjoyable, said Mrs. Newmarch.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Col. H. W. Cooper, warden of the New Westminster penitentiary, accompanied by Mrs. Cooper, arrived in the city today and are staying at the Empress. Col. Cooper is here to attend the Canadian Legion convention.

Visitors to Mount Arrowsmith recently were pleased to find that a brand new bridge has been installed about 1,200 feet up the trail, replacing the old structure, and the trail has also been put in good condition, greatly facilitating the ascent of this peak in the Cameron Lake district.

Appointment of Harry Owen, president of the Trades and Labor Council, to interview the Victoria Board of School Trustees and protest against the awarding of contracts without calling for tenders was made at the meeting of the Trades and Labor Council yesterday evening as the result of a protest by the Sheet Metal Workers' Union.

All Liberals and their friends are cordially invited to the dance which Ward One Liberals will give this evening in the Liberal rooms at the corner of Government and Broughton Streets. Dancing will be on from 8:30 to 11:30 o'clock for which Bert Zala's Orchestra has been secured. A contest will be conducted.

P. J. Howard, who files trial on the charge of retaining $540.71 of insurance premiums collected for the account of Robert Grubb and Company, is now so ill that it has been necessary to send him to hospital. It was announced in the City Police Court this morning when his case, remanded from last week, was called before Magistrate Jay. The case was ordered adjourned for one week.

The annual basket picnic of Majestic Council 1513 of Royal Arcanum, will be held on Sunday at the Chalet, Deep Cove. An interesting program of sports has been arranged for the day opening in the morning with a softball game between the married and single men of Blanshard and Broughton Street at 9:30 in the morning.

Final preparations are almost completed for the Trades and Labor Council annual picnic, to be held at Elk Lake on Sunday. It was reported at the meeting held last night that buses will leave the Vancouver Island Coach Lines Depot at 10 o'clock and at 1:30 o'clock. Corners of Hillside and Quadra Streets, tea, sugar, milk and hot water will be provided and a good programme of sports has been planned.

Fred Landsberg, treasurer of the Sunshine camp fund, wishes to call the attention of the citizens to the fact that the collection which will be taken up at the baseball game to be played at Beacon Hill Park to-night at 6:15 o'clock, between teams representing The Colonists and Gray Line, will be donated to the fund for operating the Sunshine camp at Sooke for the underprivileged mothers and children of Victoria and district. Mr. Landsberg urges everyone having the time to spare to attend the game and contribute as liberally as possible to the fund.

Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau has been notified that, under a recent United States ruling, small quantities of plants (nursery stock) purchased here by United States tourists can be taken across the line without a permit from Washington, as formerly, providing the plants are accompanied by a certificate of inspection and a certificate of origin issued by the Canadian inspection service, and providing that an application for a certificate is forwarded to the United States Customs at Washington. Nurserymen here state they will secure the necessary certificates when a purchase has been made. The new ruling tends to simplify and facilitate the whole procedure relative to United States purchases of Canadian nursery stock.

Total revenue for the year was $8,771.26, a drop of nearly $900 from the previous year. Reserve funds of the legion remain intact and a policy of strict economy has been followed, he said. Mr. Cooper, in his report, indicated he will retire from the provincial executive this year.

Highway Planned To Link Up Argentine With Alaska via B.C.

Building of Road From Nogales to Mexico City Part of International Highway, Says Ernest McGaffey

Highway Through This Province to Fairbanks Will Eventually Be Constructed, He Believes

Motorists of the future may be able to drive from Buenos Aires, capital of the Argentine Republic, to Fairbanks, Alaska, on the International Pacific Highway, with British Columbia providing an important link, according to Ernest McGaffey, manager of the magazine bureau of the Automobile Club of southern California, and former secretary of the Vancouver Island Development League, who is now visiting the city from Los Angeles.

Mr. McGaffey is confident that the much-talked-of British Columbia highway will eventually be built and that it will be a component part of the great international road by means of which it is proposed to link up the continents of North and South America.

The financing of this great highway scheme will be done by the governments of the countries through which the road will pass, in the opinion of Mr. McGaffey.

THROUGH B.C. TO ALASKA
 It was the Automobile Club of southern California, he said, which first broached the proposal to build an automobile highway from the United States through British Columbia to Alaska, and the same organization was strongly in support of the international highway which will permit motorists to drive from Buenos Aires to Fairbanks. This road is planned to tap Mexico and the Central American countries and would bridge the Panama Canal.

Within the next five years, Mr. McGaffey said, part of this international highway would be completed between Nogales, on the border of Arizona and Sonora, Mexico, and Seattle, Wash. In connection with the construction of this road, caravans have been sent into Mexico by the Automobile Club of southern California, similar to the caravans which have been sent into the northern interior of British Columbia to survey the proposed route of the Alaska highway.

Speaking of the Alaska highway, Mr. McGaffey said it would not be a difficult road to build. Already there is in existence a highway from the Mexican border to Fairbanks, linked up by the great Pacific Highway.

Since he arrived here, Mr. McGaffey went out to Jordan River to inspect the work on the proposed Ocean Highway. Only fourteen miles of road has now been built to link up the head of construction with Port Renfrew.

This road, he said, offered great possibilities and would be a big magnet to tourists as well as providing necessary communication with the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

HOTEL MAN TO GO TO JAIL

Arthur Curtis Chooses to Serve Instead of Paying Fine For Serving Liquor

Arthur Curtis, proprietor of the Mill Bay Inn, a summer resort on the Island Highway, was this afternoon taken to Oakalla to start serving his sentence of four months.

At his trial Wednesday afternoon he was found guilty of illegally supplying liquor to guests, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $400, or serve four months in jail. He notified Inspector Robert Owens of his intention to serve the term rather than pay the fine, and the inspector ordered his removal at once to the mainland so that he could start serving his term without delay.

EARWIGS STILL RAID GARDENS

City Abandons Poison Campaign This Year, But Bait Is Available

The campaign which the city conducted last year for the destruction of earwigs, is not being continued this year. It was stated today by W. H. Warren, superintendent of parks, that the appropriation for this purpose has been used up and no provision has been made for combating the pests which are still troublesome in local gardens.

The office of the parks superintendent has been deluged with inquiries about control of earwigs during the last few days.

He states that poison bait ready to mix and carrying directions regarding the method of application can be obtained from local feed stores.

Premier Tolmie Addresses Convention Delegates at Government Luncheon

Legion Head Predicts Hard Fight to Resist Cut in Pensions

British Columbia's official welcome to the delegates attending the convention of the Canadian Legion, B.C. command, was tendered by Premier Tolmie at a luncheon given by the provincial government in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Delegates and their wives attended the gathering, in the neighborhood of 600 being present.

In his welcome Premier Tolmie first made reference to the pipe playing of the pipe band from the Portland Post of the Legion, which piped the colors into the hall at the start of the luncheon with "The Maple Leaf Forever."

"I'm very glad indeed to have you all with us. We are having a trying time, but I'm not in the least bit alarmed, because I'm sure we will emerge from it as we have from depressions in the past," the Premier said. "You know there is nothing like the British Columbia spirit. I can remember in the early nineties when I came here things were depressed, but I borrowed $2,000 to build a house and got married."

The Premier reviewed B.C.'s natural resources and its assets from all angles, pointing out that once the markets for the province's products were reopened the depression would vanish for B.C.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED
 "There never was a time in the history of British Columbia when we should keep our heads and our determination such as the present. There is a primeval path to prosperity, but it will be one of the first sections of the empire to emerge from the depression, with all our resources and intrinsic strength," he declared.

"We must all work together and we will come out with flags flying. Co-operate with your government, whatever government it is—for there is an election this year—and we will emerge successfully."

PENSIONER'S VIEW
 T. A. Barnard, the legion president in B.C., replied to the premier's welcome.

The Canadian Legion was essentially a service organization, he said, interested in all activities of ex-service men. Necessarily it came in contact with all governments and its relationship with Premier Tolmie has always been one of extreme pleasure. While not always securing their requests the legion representatives were treated cordially and sympathetically.

"Generally speaking, our problems are with the Dominion government. The Canadian Legion does not appreciate the attitude of the federal government in its attempts to reduce the pension list. We were able to parry the blow at the last session but only temporarily—for we know that interests in the east are trying to reduce the pension list. The younger generation growing up does not see the matter from all angles, and possibly they cannot fully blame since their outlook is none too bright."

Premier Tolmie was the chairman and those at the head table were: Lieut. Governor J. W. Pordham, Johnson, Premier Tolmie, T. A. Barnard, Commander V. G. Broder, S.N.O.; Brig. Gen. W. W. Doolittle, Hon. J. W. Jones, Hon. S. L. Howe, Hon. Joshua Hinchcliffe, Mayor David Leeming, Lieut.-Col. T. B. Monk, Lieut.-Col. H. W. Cooper, Reginald Hayward, M.P., Hon. W. M. Dennis, Mrs. J. C. McDonald, A. Palmer, Senator R. F. Green, Col. W. W. Foster, Senator J. H. King, W. G. Stone and Col. D. B. Martin.

WORK OF PENSION BUREAU IS HEAVY

Adjustment Officer For Legion Handled Large Number of Cases

Work handled by the pensions adjustment bureau of the Canadian Legion during the year ending March 31 included 5,009 interviews, 5,605 letters written, 1,623 documents copied and 4,871 phone calls made, according to the annual report of David McKee, the adjustment officer, filed at the Legion convention this morning.

He attended forty-six sessions of the pensions tribunal and discussed 1,250 cases with the hospital doctors and officials.

Major adjustments to the total of 270 were obtained, classified as follows: retroactive pensions, 126; pensions reinstated, 21; increase in pensions, 2; dependents' pensions, 40; and twenty miscellaneous cases.

Dealing with unemployment, Mr. Foster suggested to the convention the necessity of emphasizing the scale of any relief must not be permitted to become a mere matter of money, but of that it is actually required to safeguard the health of each individual, and the proper care of children.

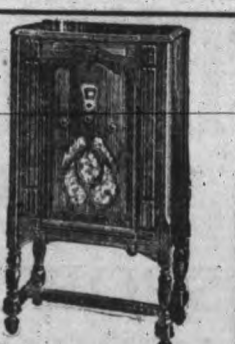

The period we are now facing will naturally be a most critical one in the history of the legion—one that will require the maximum amount of courage and faith—but backed up as we are by magnificent traditions and the support of our members, we will be faced without fear," he concluded.

EXCHANGE RATES
 Exchange rates at noon to-day as reported by the Canadian Press were: Pound sterling in Montreal, $4.81. United States dollar in Montreal, $1.06 1/2. French franc in Montreal, 5.7 cents. French franc in New York, 5.35 cents.

CLERICAL IS HELD

The boys were rushed to police headquarters, where they were cared for in the emergency hospital. It was found they were severely shaken up, but were not badly injured.

NEW PROPOSAL AT GOLDSTREAM

New Company Suggested to Log Remaining Timber on Watershed

A communication has been received by the city from W. B. Hutchison, Portland, Ore., relative to the logging of the remaining timber on the Goldstream watershed. Mr. Hutchison's plan is to organize a new company, to be known as the Goldstream Logging Company, which will take over the equipment of the Fairview-Gierlin Company.

The Goldstream Logging Company would be ready to contract with the city to log the timber left on the watershed and would advance working capital for the purpose. After deduction of logging expenses, the balance would be divided as follows: Three-quarters to the city for its stumpage and one-quarter to the Goldstream Logging Company for its equipment, its capital investment and for advancing working capital.

The suggestion is made that the company's books be kept in the city auditor's office, with the company footing the expense. The result would be the communication states, an absolute check by the city on all income and expenditures, a stumpage return based on any increase of logs and the maximum return for stumpage possible under any sure arrangement.

The matter will be considered by the city water board.

CANTEEN FUNDS REPORT IS MADE

More Than $23,000 Distributed During Year Ending in March

In the year ending March 31, the Canteen Funds operating in British Columbia, under the Canteen Funds Act, 1925, rendered aid to 1,084 veterans cases at a total cost of $23,374.43, according to the annual report filed at the convention of the Canadian Legion here to-day.

This was a reduction of nearly 400 cases from the previous year owing to the operation of the War Veterans' Allowance which takes care of many veterans who cannot establish pension claims, or reinstatement of pensions of those who commuted them ten years ago.

Total expenditure since the fund was operating in 1926 have been $225,619.19, serving 5,804 cases at an average cost of $38.86.

The relief granted in the last year period was made up of $20,842.81 on individual applications including loans to individuals; $873.36 through ex-service organizations; $166.75 for blankets and $1,491.51 in sundry assistance.

Professional Bike Riders Are On Grueling Marathon

Victoria Riders Instruct 500 Youngsters in Toronto

Sonny Workman Often Wins With the Second-best Horse

FIFTY-FOUR OF the leading professional bicycle riders in the world are now well on their way in the 4,300-mile transcontinental race. It is the most gruelling test in the history of marathon bike racing and will take the riders through many of the leading cities on the continent. Victorians are taking an added interest in the event owing to four local boys competing in the classic, Torchy Peden, Lew Rush, Stan Jackson and Polly Parrott.

The bike marathon will be as cruel to the riders as C. C. Pyle's "Bunion Derby" was to the runners who pushed their weary feet from coast to coast. The first prize in this race is $25,000 and it will be bitterly earned. The race being promoted by Armand Vincent, Montreal sportsman, is a counterpart of the trying Tours de France. This event is a month of pedalling around the borders of France, through Brittany, the Basque country, up and down the hills of Crau, winding around the roads of Savoy and the lower Alps into Alsace and north country, and finally into Paris. The cyclist travels this tough course alone, but he is under constant surveillance by officials.

The North American marathon has drawn the cream of riders from all parts of the world and a great scramble is looked for before the finish of the race the first of next month. The physical angle, the race is a study in raw human psychology, offering an inkling of what men will endure for money. The race is being supervised by Willie Spencer, promoter of six-day races, and his task is to keep as many riders on the road as possible.

While in Toronto the Victoria riders one night instructed 500 boys. Turning out for practice, the lads were met by Peden, who was accompanied by Rush, Jackson, Parrott and Reggie Fielding, Toronto pro rider. A short address was given by Peden, and the boys were then lined up and were given instructions by the pros. The youngsters were shown how to ride and the best way to adjust the bicycle to obtain the maximum speed. They were then paced around the track by their instructors. The greatest thrill of the situation this year was when they witnessed a three-mile exhibition race staged for their benefit by the professionals. The race was won all the way, with Jackson nosing out his teammates at the wire.

When the combination of great horse and great rider meet, records go to smash. That is the situation this year with Sonny Workman astride Equipoise. In more than one great race, Workman has beaten the best horses with the best seat. It is not far back to the Pimlico Futurity of 1929 when Sonny brought Equipoise from far back in the mud to beat Twenty Grand and Mate. The distance Equipoise had to make up to win this one seemed impossible. But Workman, like Garrison of old, is known as a great whip finisher, and he got up with Equipoise in a rushing, rousing, shaking everything out of the horse but his breakfast oats.

One year later he repeated that Pimlico Futurity triumph, this time with Top Flight. Horsemen still insist that Workman stole the race, that Dick Onions finished second, and Buck King, which showed, were better horses than the Whitney filly.

Workman is classed among the "older" jockeys now, though he is only twenty-four and has been in the saddle something like nine years. As a tot in West Hoboken, N.J., he rode Onions, who while some of his brother jockeys were astride broncos, on the western plains. As a schoolboy he spent his idle moments around the barn at the Benning track in Washington, D.C.

Freddy Hopkins, trainer of part of the Whitney string, gave odd jobs to the eager lad. In 1923 Hopkins sent him to the half-mile tracks. Workman did not ride a winner until 1926, when he hoisted home a brute named Utah at Akron, O. Workman went on to ride ninety-five winners that year—not bad for a youth who had found out only two years before that horses ran.

Workman's contract with Cornelius V. Whitney in recent years has called for $10,000 a year plus ten per cent. of the purses won. In his biggest year with the stable, 1930, Workman is reported to have earned about $50,000. This year, it is said his contract calls for $10,000 but with only five per cent. of the winnings.

Dog Musher Held Up at Winnipeg

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Pat Campbell, famed Portland dog musher, has almost given up hope of reaching the World's Fair at Chicago with his team of racing huskies.

Campbell and two companions mushed the 500-mile trail from the Pas to Winnipeg, arriving here fifteen days ago. Since then he has been trying to arrange for entrance to the United States, and has applied to Canadian authorities for a passport.

Immigration authorities demand a bond of $200 each for Campbell and his aides, and another bond of $2,000 for the seven dogs in his team.

Chapman, Jones and Gibbons Stars In Win Over Camerons

Jones Holds Camerons to Four Hits as Teammates Score 5 to 4 Victory

GIBBONS POLES CIRCUIT BLOW

Chapman Pulls Off One of Finest Catches in Years; Standings Change Again

With Art Chapman and Freddie Gibbons providing thrilling fielding and hitting features the Tillicums battled their way back into second place in the Senior Amateur Baseball League at the Athletic Park yesterday evening by edging out a 5 to 4 seven inning victory over Camerons, league leaders. The Tillicums displaced Slingers as runners-up, the latter dropping into third place, with the Sons of Canada fourth. The defeat made Camerons' hold on first place anything but firm, and left a chance of them being nosed out for the league championship and the bye in the play-offs to determine the club to represent Victoria in the provincial series.

Chapman brought the fans to their feet in the sixth inning with one of the finest catches seen in the ball park for many a long day. Camerons had scored one run leaving the Tillicums ahead 5 to 4 with two men away and runners on third and second. Jack McKenzie lined a terrific drive into left centre field and it looked good for two bases until Chapman tore madly from left field, reached out his long arm, speared the ball one-handed and then did a somersault and came up still holding the pellet. He got a tremendous hand from the crowd as he trotted to the dug-out. It was one of those catches one reads about in story books.

HITS HOME RUN
Gibbons started the Tillicums on their way to victory in the fourth inning when he pulled a long hit into left field for a home run. In addition he got two other hits, a double and a single and was responsible for driving in three of the Tillicums' five runs.

In handing out credit for the victory Lloyd Jones, hard-working southpaw pitcher, was the star. He pitched a limited Camerons to four hits and for four innings held his opponents hitless and not a single man reached first during that time. He struck out four. Dave Esler's triple to right, the hitlock for Camerons, gave eight hits while he fanned five and walked one.

After three scoreless innings Tillicums drove in three runs in the fourth when Esler's triple to right, the hitlock for Camerons, gave eight hits while he fanned five and walked one.

TIE SCORE
Still much in the game Camerons rallied in their half of the fifth to deadlock the score again. Bridgewood singled through second, Dick Onions a high fly to centre field and after getting under the ball Stipe slipped on the west grass and the hit was good for two bases. Bridgewood pulling up at third, Dave Esler's triple to right, centre scored both runners. McKenzie's grounder went through Gibbons' legs. Esler scored. Nix popped to third. McKinney forced McKennie at third, Taylor to Patrick. Love lifted to Taylor.

Tillicums came right back in their half of the fifth to gain a two-run margin. Fleming singled over second. Stipe bunted to Belcher and beat the throw. Fleming's triple to right, centre scored both runners. McKenzie's grounder went through Gibbons' legs. Esler scored. Nix popped to third. McKinney forced McKennie at third, Taylor to Patrick. Love lifted to Taylor.

RUSH AND PARROTT INJURED IN MARATHON BICYCLE RACE

Victoria Riders Recuperate in Hospital After Going Down in Spills; Trying Conditions Force Several Competitors to Quit; Long Lap To-day

Sherbrooke, Que., Aug. 3.—Pedalling wearily through the rain, forty-eight cyclists set out to-day for Cornwall, Ont., the fourth lap of the transcontinental bicycle race. The 225-mile grind to Cornwall is expected to break the thirteen-man tie for first place.

Harry Thorne, New York veteran, was the first to go down, falling in the early stages of the contest. Tied with him for first place were Freddie Zach, Switzerland; Max Hurley, England; and Stan Jackson, Victoria. Fred and Lew Elder, Toronto; Freddie

Three Canadians Remain In Fight For Tennis Title

Walter Martin, Laird Watt and Ossie Ryall Advance With Five Americans

WATT-MARTIN MEET TO-DAY

Mary Campbell, Lone Remaining Local Entry, Meets Muriel Munro

Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Three of Canada's first ten survived to-day to contest the Canadian tennis championship with five United States stars, but by the luck of the draw, the east's sole remaining representative in the men's singles, the favored Walter Martin, Regina and Toronto, and Laird Watt, Montreal, were opposed in one quarter-final match.

Ossie Ryall, Vancouver, sixth ranking Canadian, was drawn against seven-year-old Ned Russell, Hollywood, who scored a sensational upset yesterday by eliminating the top-seeded Marcel Rainville, Montreal, member of the last five Canadian Davis Cup teams. Match to-day was anticipated with keenest interest.

John Murio, San Francisco, seeded third in the draw and recent winner of the British Columbia grass court and clay court titles, faced the San Francisco stylist, Charlie Hunt, whom he defeated in the finals of the grass court event at Victoria last week. Mel Dranga, Seattle, champion of Washington, and Idaho states, was opposed to-day by the clever Portland junior, Wayne Sabin.

Best of the men's doubles quarter-finals was expected to be that between the Washington State champions, Russell and Hunt, and the strong Dranga-Sabin combination. The top-seeded pair, Walter Martin and the former Canadian champion, Dr. Jack Wright, Vancouver, faced Jack Brown, Vancouver, and Don Campbell, Victoria.

Montreal doubles team, Rainville and Watt, was drawn against Harold Brown and Colin Milne, Vancouver, who yesterday upset the East-West team, Ossie Ryall, Vancouver, and George LeClerc, Ottawa.

Caroline Descom, Vancouver city champion, was drawn against the sixteen-year-old Santa Monica girl, Dorothy Bundy, in the feature women's singles match. Golda Myer Gross, Berkeley, and May Deeg, Santa Monica, were billed in another quarter-final, while Mary Campbell, Victoria, faced Muriel Munro, Vancouver, and the Vancouver Whistler, San Francisco, opposed Eleanor Young, Vancouver.

Feature doubles match of the day was an exciting battle between Murio and Kennedy, San Francisco, and a pair of youngsters, Bob Underwood, Los Angeles, and Harry Rosenberg, Seattle. The Hawaiian and his partner won the first set, 6-3. There were no serious breaks in the deciding standard until the fifteen-year-old Underwood lost his delivery, and the match, with the count at 6-5 against them. Overhead smashes and crisp net play featured the match.

The doubles favorites, Dr. Jack Wright, Vancouver, and Walter Martin, easily disposed of a Vancouver pair, Ian Stevenson and Dick de Molle, while the second seeded team of Rainville and Watt lost only two games in defeating Stan Hayden and Harold Lando, Vancouver. Dranga and Sabin were given a hard battle by W. Liechtenberger and Harry Goldman, San Francisco, but won the last two sets, 6-3, 6-4, after losing the first at 6-4.

Colin Milne, Canadian junior champion, and Harold Brown, both of Vancouver, scored a slight upset when they defeated the East-West duo, Ossie Ryall of Vancouver, and George LeClerc, Ottawa, in the first set.

Dorothy Gillespie Patrick, Montreal, and Mary Haggart, Vancouver, scored an impressive women's doubles win over Irene Chubb, Seattle, and Jean Sparling, Vancouver, 6-1, 6-1. Mrs. R. B. Wilson and Mary Campbell, of Victoria, defeated the Vancouver youngsters, Carlene Descom and Eleanor Young, 8-6, 6-2.

The strong American teams: Golda Myer Gross, Berkeley, and Gracyn Wheeler, San Francisco; and Dorothy Bundy and May Deeg, Santa Monica, also advanced safely. Although both (Turn to Page 13, Col. 4)

Is Youth Right to Put Off Marriage Until He Can Support Wife in Luxury?—Worker Is Entitled to Her Wage, Even When She's a Daughter

DEAR MISS DIX—I am engaged to a splendid young man, but he will not marry me, although I have been waiting for him for several years, because he does not think he is making enough to give me the things I should have. I am working, too, and I feel that we can get along financially far better than a number of young married couples who seem to be happy. I would be willing to give up a great deal that I now have, for I consider that marriage means to share life together, its joys and sorrows, not just its prosperity. Which of us do you think is right?

MISS TWENTY-TWO.

Answer—You are right. A certain amount of money, just enough to assure bread and cheese to go along with the kisses, is necessary to make marriage a success, but with that assured, any young couple of lovers are justified in taking their courage in both hands and starting out on the great adventure together.

For happiness in marriage is one of the things that is not for sale over the counter. It does not depend upon possessions. It is not assured by the bridegroom being able to present his bride with strings of matched pearls and taking her to live in a palace and being able to shower her with limousines and Paris finery and give her servants to wait upon her.

Quite the contrary. Statistics show that there are more divorces among the rich than among the poor. It is a matter of common observation that when you find an elderly millionaire and his original wife still living together in mutual love and happiness it is because the tie between them was forged on the anvil of poverty by hard knocks in the days when they had a thin dime between them. For it seems that while love can stand the strain of poverty it can seldom endure the laxness of riches.

And the reason for this is obvious. Money separates a married couple. Poverty draws them together. The rich man and his wife are not necessary to each other. The poor man and his wife are. They must depend upon each other for their society, for their amusements, for their comfort and well-being. They must sacrifice for each other, and it is strangely true that the more we do for a person, the more we love him or her, and there is something about the service we give with our hands to another that draws us closer to him or her than anything else does.

And the poor husband and wife are more likely to be faithful to each other than the rich husband and wife, not because they are intrinsically more virtuous, but because they are spared the temptations of the wealthy. Each rich man is pursued night and day by gold-diggers. Every rich woman is the object of the pursuit of grafting gigolos.

Of course, it is fine and admirable for a man who is in love with a woman to want to give her every luxury and make her life soft and easy, but when he denies her a wedding ring until he can afford a platinum one set with diamonds he is literally giving her a stone when she asks for bread. When he makes her wait and wait until her youth is gone and the freshness of their love has rubbed off and their engagement grown stale and commonplace, he has deprived her of something that no amount of money can ever buy back and for which nothing he can give her will ever atone.

Anyway, a man's idea that he shows his love for a woman by wrapping her in pink chiffons and having her do nothing but sit on a silk cushion and sew up a seam and feed upon strawberries, sugar and cream is all nonsense. A real woman doesn't want that sort of a one-sided partnership in marriage. She wants to be on the firing line with her husband, fighting shoulder to shoulder with him, sharing his dangers and his sufferings, feeling herself necessary to him.

Thousands of young couples who have only a few dollars and love to marry and live happily ever afterward. They set up housekeeping in a two- or four-flat with furniture they make with their own hands. The man toils without home and the woman in it, but they hope and plan and dream together and often go up to fame and fortune. They were their best days when they lived in Poverty Flat.

One such woman, the wife of a many-times millionaire, often tells me that her happiest days were those in which she washed her husband's shirt at night so he might have it clean to put on the next day, and carried him his dinner in a tin bucket.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—I am one of three girls, all employed and making good salaries. We are the support of our mother. I personally have been working for fifteen years, during which time I have handed over my pay envelope to my mother without opening it and have only received a small allowance out of it. The time has come now when I would like to make arrangements to get married, but cannot do so as I have not the money necessary to get the clothes I need. I have asked mother to increase my allowance for this purpose, but she has refused to do so. There is no use of my asking her again as her answer is final. What shall I do?

ANXIOUS READER.

Answer—If you have the backbone of a fishing worm, you will turn, and refuse to turn over your salary to your greedy mother. After all, the matter is in your own hands, as she has no way of getting hold of your money unless you give it to her.

Of course, it is your duty to help support your mother, and you and your sisters should agree upon what is a fair amount and give it to her, but you are foolish to turn over your entire earnings to her and just have the pittance she chooses to give you. In doing that you simply become her slave.

Mothers take a queer attitude toward their daughters' earnings. Nearly always they seem to think that all the money their daughters make belongs to them by rights. It is a common thing for a mother to demand her daughter's pay envelope, but I have never heard of a case in which a mother expected her son to hand over his pay envelope.

The worker is entitled to her wage. Even if it is necessary to spend every cent of it on the support of the family, handle your own money and, at least, have the satisfaction of giving it yourself. The purse bearer has always held a portion of honor and esteem.

DOROTHY DIX.

DEAR MISS DIX—I am very much in love with a young man who says, that although he loves me he has no intention of ever marrying me. He says he does not like the thought of being married. Shall I give him up or not? Do not suppose he will change after he gets older?

ALICE.

Answer—The young man is not in love with you or the thought of marriage would not be repulsive to him. On the contrary, he would be eager to enter the blessed estate and would be trying to tell you the idea of how happy you could be in a vine-wreathed cottage or a cozy little apartment just big enough for two.

So, in my opinion, you are wasting your time on this gentleman, who has earned you that his attentions are without intentions.

Your best play is to gently but firmly wait him into the outer air and tell him that you have no time to waste on him further, and for him not to come around again unless he brings a wedding ring in his pocket.

If he really cares for you, that will bring him to the proposing point. But don't forget that there are men who are born bachelors, who really can't stand the thought of being tied down by marriage, and these get more set against it the older they get.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, AUGUST 4, 1933

Adverse planetary influences are strong today, according to astrology. It is a good one for forgetfulness of affairs. The early morning rule of the stars is not for merchants and traders, but for those who profit through initiative at this time. Trade conditions have a planetary direction that is most promising. Gains that show but are not sure are likely to be made. The government is likely to make changes in the president's cabinet to be announced, but there will be no change in the cabinet itself.

Women should be careful of their health. This configuration prevails. The stars are most unkindly in love, for the stars cause flirtations rather than serious love. Actors and artists in every branch of the stage should be careful. The stars should work hard at this time, for stars' talents are being developed. The stage is subject to a planetary government that seems to prearrange a return to the old days of the American drama. Determined opposition to certain public officials may be shown, under the plan of government. Secret propaganda is Motion pictures will benefit at this time, if indicated, for there is to be a change in methods and an improvement in the literary material used for the screen, the stars prophesy.

Temptation to criticism may be strong under this rule of the stars. The wise will begin on themselves and forget about their neighbors.

Persons whose birthday it is have the support of a year of good fortune, but they may commit follies unless they are on guard. Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly charming in personality, gifted and very successful in the public life. Percy Bysshe Shelley, famous English poet, was born on this day, 1802.

Another who was born on this day was the famous actress, Mrs. F. M. DeWitt.

ROYAL OAK
The weather conditions favored the annual picnic on Tuesday. Leaving Royal Oak by chartered bus and private cars the party was taken by ferry to Mill Bay, where a dainty luncheon was enjoyed. After a few hours on the beach, the party went to the Queen Alexandra Solarium, where, through the courtesy of Dr. C. Wace and the matron and nurses, they were shown through the hospital and grounds.

Well-known People Using Air Routes

Emma Alexander Here To-night
Popularity of Services Between England, South Africa and India Increasing

Lady Willingdon, Gen. Smuts, Belgian King, King Feisal Among Passengers
London, Aug. 3.—In the growing traffic of our airways no aspect is more striking than that of the increase in the number of passengers who, when traveling to and from either India or Africa, now make their journey in big airplanes and flying-boats. Figures which have become available, covering a recent period of four months this year, show that passenger traffic on the Imperial Airways services in the Union of South Africa was 60 per cent higher during this period than it was for a corresponding four months in 1932. There were also increases of 50 per cent in aerial mails, and of 58 per cent in airfreight.

Bound across the north Pacific from the Orient, the American Mail liner, President Jefferson, is expected here next Monday afternoon. She is bringing passengers, cargo and mails for Victoria.

The Ss. City of Los Angeles, taking the place of the H. F. Alexander, will be in drydock in Seattle, will arrive here next Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock and will sail at midnight for California ports.

Local Naval Man Promoted

Promotion of Lieut.-Commander W. J. B. Beach, R.C.N., to the rank of Commander, was announced at the Esquimalt Naval Barracks this morning, following official advice from the Canadian naval headquarters at Ottawa.

Commander Beach is at present executive officer of the barracks. He has been several years. H.M.C.S. Skeena, Commander G. C. Jones, R.C.N., and H.M.C.S. Vancouver, Lieut.-Commander L. J. M. Gauvreau, R.C.N., are at present at Ocean Falls during the course of their summer cruise to British Columbia ports. They will go farther north and are expected back at their base in Esquimalt Harbor August 20.

H.M.S. Dragon, Capt. W. F. Wake-Walker, R.N., of Bermuda is today at Comox. She will go to several northern ports, including Prince Rupert, before sailing south on her return to the West Indies.

Close, 1.30 p.m., August 4, Ss. Paris, via New York.
Close, 1.30 p.m., August 6, Ss. Duchess of Richmond, via New York.
Mail intended for transmission via New York should be so marked. When sent by air over United States lines, mail may be posted two days later than the dates indicated.

JAMAICA

Close, 1.30 p.m., August 4.

There is another Arabian ruler who takes a keen interest in aviation nowadays, and this is the Sheikh of Kuwait, whose domain lies at the head of the Persian Gulf. It was he who, not long ago, flew by the Indian air-mail to pay a ceremonial call upon the Sheikh of Sharjah, afterwards returning to Kuwait by air, and being welcomed by great throngs of his admiring followers.

FLYING ROYALTY

Royal travelers, as well as statesmen and other distinguished folk, are now making it a habit to fly by air-mail when traversing routes which are served by regular airmail. The King of the Belgians, for example, who not long ago flew to and from the Congo by Imperial Airways, honored the company again recently, by using their service between Brindisi and Genoa; while the interest which His Majesty takes in civil aviation was further evidenced when, at his own request, one of the new Imperial Airways "A" type monoplane was flown to Brussels so that he and the queen, and the Duke and Duchess of Brabant might make a trip in it from Brussels to Antwerp and back. Not long ago also, Prince Leopold and Princess Astrid flew from Juba by air-mail while on a visit to Africa.

Another royal patron of the airway just lately, was King Feisal of Iraq, who, when journeying to England, used a specially chartered Imperial Airways craft to carry him from Baghdad to Cairo, being accompanied on the flight by the members of his suite.

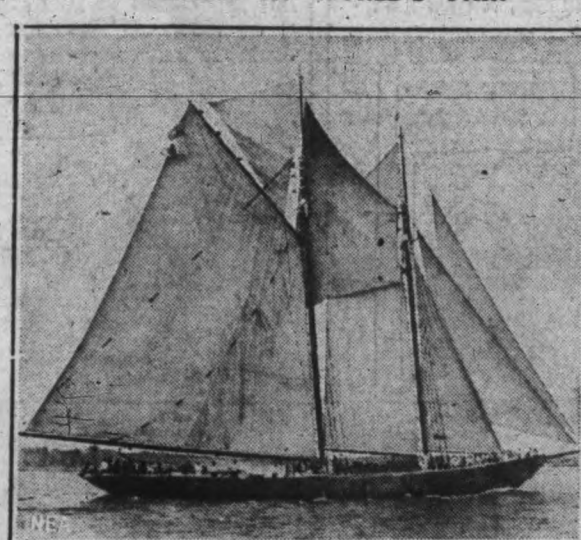

Many of those who traveled to London for the Economic Conference elected to make their journeys by air, prominent among them being General Smuts. After flying through by Imperial Airways from South Africa to London, General Smuts spoke in the highest terms of the safety, comfort and reliability of the African air-mail. Incidentally, while upon the subject of such long-distance flights, mention should certainly be made of a recent trip by an American traveler, Miss Allison. Leaving New York by ocean liner she flew from Cairo to the Cape by Imperial Airways, and then back to Johannesburg and Durban, afterwards crossing to India by steamship; after which she flew by Imperial Airways to Brindisi, and then on in the Graf-Zeppelin airship across the South Atlantic to Pernambuco, continuing her tour via Pan-American Airways to Miami, and by Eastern Air Transport to New York. This whole tour totaled approximately 20,000 miles and is regarded as a particularly interesting illustration of how a woman passenger, traveling alone, can now fly in comfort over the main air lines of the world.

Another very enthusiastic air traveler is ex-King Ferdinand of Bulgaria. Not long ago, flying over Northern Africa by Imperial Airways, His Majesty accomplished in thirty-six hours a journey which, some years before, had taken him twenty-six days. One thing which impressed him particularly was the moderate temperature which, even when flying through the tropics, it was possible to maintain in the air-liner saloons, and he declared, on completing his trip, that there is only one way nowadays in which to make such a journey in comfort and that was the air way.

IS EXHIBIT AT WORLD'S FAIR

A famed international racing schooner, and pride of the New England fleet, the Gertrude L. Thebaud is pictured above as it sailed from her home port at Gloucester for the World's Fair at Chicago. Capt. Ben Pine is her skipper. At the fair she will meet Canada's challenger, the Bluenose, Capt. Angus Walters, and perhaps there may be an unofficial race between these two old rivals.

Will Use Planes For Fish Patrol

Spokane, Aug. 3.—Airplanes will replace boats in patrolling fish traps in Alaskan salmon waters, Frank Bell, Commissioner of Fisheries said here yesterday.

An air patrol will not only save the government money, but will be more effective in the drive to limit the trap catch, he said. Mr. Bell said it is his desire to give the individual Seine fishermen a chance to get a fair share of the fish.

"There are sixty government boats now doing patrol work in Alaskan waters," he said.

"I expect to be able to lay out about one-third of these by putting planes on the job. Two men in an airplane can do the work of five or six boats with crews of eight or nine men each. This will save the taxpayers a lot of money."

"By giving the Seine fishermen a chance, we will be giving work to hundreds who have been practically forced to the wall by the traps."

"Two men with a trap can catch as many fish as twenty-five men with Seines."

BUSY SEASON AT CHURCHILL

Twenty Ships Due There in Next Two Months to Load 5,000,000 Bushels of Wheat

Winnipeg, Aug. 3.—Traffic out of Churchill, Canada's two-year-old port on Hudson Bay, is expected this year to be double what it was last year, officials of the On-to-the-Bay Association reported to-day. More than 5,000,000 bushels of wheat will be loaded by twenty ships in the next two months, compared with 2,700,000 bushels in ten vessels last season. Two trial shipments were made by Dominion government chartered ships in 1931.

Leading the procession of steamers that will ply their way through the chill waters of Hudson Bay to the northern port this year is the Pennyworth. She left Glasgow July 17 and due at Churchill August 13. There will be a substantial increase in the quantity of cargo brought to the new port this year, the first shipment comprising 10,000 tons of package freight.
